

STATEMENT ON THE OUTCOME OF THE LAND AND HOUSING WORKSHOP

07 SEPTEMBER 2021

DELIVERED BY:

HIS WORSHIP CLLR. DR. JOB AMUPANDA MAYOR

At independence, the government identified the provision of adequate and affordable housing to all Namibians, as one of its priorities. To ensure a sound and comprehensive approach to housing development, a housing policy advisory committee was appointed soon after independence. The said committee comprised representatives of all private and public interest groups was responsible for drafting the first national housing policy (NHP), adopted by Cabinet in 1991.

The NHP states that the government's role in the housing sector is to facilitate and promote partnership networks between the public and private sectors, local authorities, regional councils, NGOs, CBOS and individuals. It appears from the policy that government will intervene only to resolve issues of access to serviced land and means to finance, that are beyond an individual's control and capacity.

Despite the insufficient reference to low-cost housing, the said policy recognises the achievements of the Shack Dwellers Federation of Namibia and other saving groups that have built homes for their members. However, the housing policy was not all-inclusive. The lack of affordable land for housing is the main cause of Namibia's housing crisis and the continuous rapid growth of informal settlements; where some of our informal settlement residents do not have access to toilets and practice open defecation. This has massive health and environmental implications.

Our informal settlements present a stark contrast to the highly developed, older parts of Windhoek. For more than 25 years, a lack of funds, inappropriate modalities to mass housing and corruption, are the main reasons that people in informal settlements, do not have a dignified life today, and out of frustration, resort to land grabbing as a gesture for the voiceless.

The leadership of the Municipal Council of Windhoek convened a workshop on land and housing from Monday, 30 August 2021 to Friday 03 September 2021.

The aim of the workshop held at Midgard last week was to devise strategies on how to provide sufficient land and housing opportunities to our people and simultaneously contain informal urban expansion. We have a waiting list that we are going to prioritise via a land allocation process, the details of which will be communicated in due course. The desired outcome is that: our people will have a home, free from the fear of forced eviction, a place that offers shelter, safety, and the ability to secure a dignified livelihood.

The workshop objectives were as follows:

- (a) To quantify the magnitude of the land and housing challenge in Windhoek;
- (b) To identify the root causes of land and housing shortage in different income categories that led to the current crisis;
- (c) To recommend implementable solutions for each income category on a short, medium to long-term, and
- (d) To commit the political leadership and management to a focused approach on land and housing delivery across the organisation.

With the above initiatives, we are confident that the future is bright. However, we need to work together towards common goals with commitment and stakeholder support. Over the next few months, Council will approach key stakeholders with the view of partnering and securing the necessary funding and support and table monthly submissions to Council as of September 2021, to track progress.

Therefore, we call on all residents and stakeholders to remain calm, patient and assured that Council is fully committed to address the pressing needs for land and housing in a systematic, financially viable, and sustainable manner. To show our commitment, Council set aside N$ 22 million to start with a Council-funded affordable housing project which will showcase the type of Windhoek we want, the New Windhoek with more dignified living space. The project will start this year in Goreangab Extension 4 on a small scale, the full rollout of the project will be at a piece of land measuring 24 Hectares in Cimbebasia.

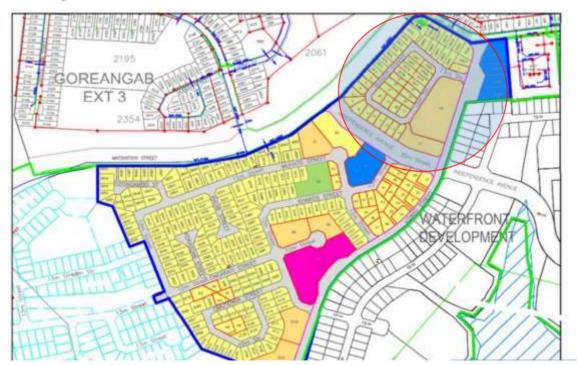

I also take this opportunity to thank Council and officials for the leadership commitment and preparation demonstrated throughout the workshop. It gives me courage that collectively, we have come this far and demonstrated a common resolve to address the long-standing land and housing dilemma. I am confident and optimistic that we shall overcome and reap tangible rewards, the more we stay focused, adopt a systematic approach and keep engaging with our communities through regular communication platforms.

With these few words, I thank you!
